The President Sends U. S. Troops into Idaho.

Race Riots in Tennessee.

Special to the APPEAL: Troops in Possession of Homestead.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 12.—The Second and Third Brigades, numbering 3000 men, arrived here today under command of General Snowden. They took possession of the Carnegie works and the entire town. They had Gatling guns and field pieces. One company took charge of the striker's headquarters.

Arrangements had been made to receive them with bands and flowers, but they came so unexpectedly that the program miscarried.

The citizens do not like the idea of troops taking possession of the town but cheerfully accept the situation.

It is the intention of the company to resume work at the Homestead Mills with non-Union men. The men say they are willing to go to work at the Carnegie rate if guaranteed protection, but the Amalgamated Association, say they will call out 20,000 men if non-Union men go to work.

The Congressional Committee arrived today and have begun to investigate the cause of the trouble.

The best order given a day or two ago. The proclamation of the president containing men to maintain order and for the women to keep the streets was generally obeyed.

Troops Sent to Idaho.

Wallace, Idaho, July 12.—The miners here are running things with a high hand. Several hundred are banded together and armed with repeating rifles and six shooters, threatening the lives of scabs and preparing to burn the mills and hoisting works.

They have taken possession of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan hoisting works without any shooting as the "scabs" surrendered. Miners are flocking in from all parts of the country to take a hand in the row. It is reported here today that the President has ordered troops to preserve the peace.

Washington, July 12.—The President telegraphed from Saratoga today to the Secretary of War to send troops to co-operate with the civil authorities in preserving life and property in Idaho. General Schofield thereupon telegraphed the Governor of Idaho that troops would be sent at once. He also telegraphed that General Merritt at St. Paul, to send three companies of infantry from Missoula, and telegraphed Gen. Ruger at San Francisco to send all infantry that could be spared from Fort Sherman. In case other troops are necessary they will be sent from Fort Custer and Fort Spokane.

THE 4TH AT MARKLEVILLE.

The Various Umpires Play for Safety.

They had a great time on the Fourth at Markleville. Everybody was there to see the tug-of-war, the baseball match and the races.

The Scandinavian and the German teams contested for a keg of beer. One side was pulled over the line a spell, and then the other was pulled back a while.

After the tug the umpire was taken aside by the German team, and a bung starter shook in front of his nose. Then the Scandinavian team took him out in the sagebrush a few minutes and had a talk with him.

He then came back and announced that the tug was a draw.

All hands cheered and the stake was divided, each team drinking from opposite ends of the keg. The Germans got more out than their opponents.

Then came the baseball match. The Markleville nine made six runs and the Alpines seven or five, it was hard to tell which, and the respective clubs took the umpire off one side in a cool, quiet place, and after reading him the latest rules that had reached Markleville—those of 1863—they impressed on him the necessity of a fair decision and no monkeying with the public. Each side claimed the game by two runs.

He thought the matter over a spell and said it was a draw game, and all cheers. Everybody took a drink and he was congratulated on his back bone and knowledge of the rules of the National sport.

The horse race came next. You-sans-man filley and Bangsteiner's chestnut colt ran for 5500 a side and some agricultural machinery, set to make it interesting.

The horses were about five yards apart when they came in.

They did not know that the head horse got a false start. Each owner took the judge aside, back of the grand stand and had a talk. Each told his own tale of the judge's rule if he didn't do the square thing.

The Judge is a candidate for Sheriff in the fall, and finally decided it a dead heat. Everybody said it was a square decision, as they put their six shooters back in place and went to take a drink.

The race for murses under 12 was very exciting. Ten girls ran and several fell down. After the race a lot of excited fathers had a talk with the judges, and after thinking the matter over they decided that all the girls came in so near together that no one could tell who was ahead.

There was three cheers for the Judges who are candidates for County Commissioners and very popular. The celebration was a great success and passed off harmoniously.

The Case of Geo. Lewis.

The case of George Lewis, sentenced to the State Prison for life for the killing of an Italian in Elko, came up before the Board of Pardons yesterday.

The circumstances of the case are that one night Lewis was passing a saloon in Elko, when an Italian came out and began to abuse him in the vilest language, at the same time flourishing a knife.

Lewis avoided a quarrel, when the Italian told Lewis that his mother was a prostitute, and that his sister was the illegitimate daughter of a harlot.

This was the substance of the language used by him, toned down as much as possible under the circumstances. Other epithets were used by him which it is impossible to print.

It was under this terrible provocation that a man who had always held a good name in the community, who had been lawabiding and industrious, who had always been a gentleman of refinement, who was weak physically, was unable to restrain himself, and rebuked the terrible epithets applied to his mother and sister, by shooting the man who was trying to provoke a quarrel with him. These epithets were merely applied to excite and madden him into a quarrel. His mother and sister were above reproach.

Not one man in ten, were he ever so law abiding, could have controlled his temper or his actions under this terrible provocation.

Yet the Board refused to pardon this man who is suffering from pulmonary trouble contracted in prison and whose life will be shortened by his sentence. It seems an outrage on humanity to keep Lewis any longer in confinement. Yet the Board refused his pardon.

Judge Higelow, the Judge who tried his case in Elko, is a member of the Board who refused his pardon yesterday.

His charge to the jury is described by one who heard it, as a better argument for the prosecution than the District Attorney made. In civil cases a Judge that has decided a case in a lower court is disqualified from sitting on the case in the Supreme Court.

The same rule should apply in cases coming before the Board of Pardons.

The Thomas Case.

William Thomas, was sent to prison from Gold Hill six years ago for incest with his ten year old daughter, Rosa. The young lady appeared before the Board yesterday and testified that her father was innocent and that the statements she made six years ago, regarding her father, were false, and she was ordered to make them by the threats of her aunt, who is crazy.

She swore that her father was innocent when she made the statement about him, and when she was not under oath.

The case will be decided tomorrow.
